Leoben, the second-largest city in Styria, the green heart of Austria, as it is affectionately called. For some, this splendid corner of the world is a cultural city; for others, it's a university town or commercial city. Why is that? Because of the incredible variety that Leoben has to offer. From culture to cuisine, from parks to mountains, from the Schwammerlturm to Montan University: Leoben is lived history – combined with vibrant living and open, hearty residents that you will meet everywhere you go, for example, at Leoben's main square, which has one of Austria's largest outdoor cafés.
